

Countries from which scientists can obtain SCOR Travel Support

Afghanistan	Ghana
Albania	Grenada
Algeria	Guatemala
American Samoa	Guinea
Angola	Guinea-Bissau
Armenia	Guyana
Azerbaijan	Haiti
Bangladesh	Honduras
Belarus	India
Belize	Indonesia
Benin	Iran, Islamic Rep.
Bhutan	Iraq
Bolivia	Jamaica
Bosnia and Herzegovina	Jordan
Botswana	Kazakhstan
Brazil	Kenya
Bulgaria	Kiribati
Burkina Faso	Korea, Dem. Rep.
Burundi	Kosovo
Cambodia	Kyrgyz Republic
Cameroon	Lao PDR
Cape Verde	Lebanon
Central African Republic	Lesotho
Chad	Liberia
China	Libya
Colombia	Macedonia, FYR
Comoros	Madagascar
Congo, Dem. Rep.	Malawi
Congo, Rep.	Malaysia
Costa Rica	Maldives
Côte d'Ivoire	Mali
Cuba	Marshall Islands
Djibouti	Mauritania
Dominica	Mauritius
Dominican Republic	Mexico
Ecuador	Micronesia, Fed. Sts.
Egypt, Arab Rep.	Moldova
El Salvador	Mongolia
Eritrea	Montenegro
Ethiopia	Morocco
Fiji	Mozambique
Gabon	Myanmar
Gambia, The	Namibia
Georgia	Nepal

Nicaragua	Sudan
Niger	Suriname
Nigeria	Swaziland
Pakistan	Syrian Arab Republic
Palau	Tajikistan
Panama	Tanzania
Papua New Guinea	Thailand
Paraguay	Timor-Leste
Peru	Togo
Philippines	Tonga
Romania	Tunisia
Rwanda	Turkey
Samoa	Turkmenistan
São Tomé and Príncipe	Tuvalu
Senegal	Uganda
Serbia	Ukraine
Sierra Leone	Uzbekistan
Solomon Islands	Vanuatu
Somalia	Vietnam
South Africa	West Bank and Gaza
South Sudan	Yemen, Rep.
Sri Lanka	Zambia
St. Lucia	Zimbabwe
St. Vincent and the Grenadines

This list includes countries ranked by the World Bank as having "low income", "lower-middle income", and "higher-middle income", based on gross national income (GNI) per capita. The World Bank classifications, in some cases, include regions of countries as separate entities and we follow the same convention. Updated: 13 October 2015.

See <http://data.worldbank.org/about/country-classifications/country-and-lending-groups>